The Queens Diamond Jubilee Cabinets

In the spring of 2012 a national competition was launched for furniture designers/manufacturers to submit a proposal for the prestigious commission of designing and building the Queens diamond jubilee cabinets. Sean Feeney Furniture from Preston-on-Stour were shortlisted and requested to make a presentation before a panel of esteemed judges in the city of London, Sean's submission was elected as the winning entry and the three cabinets are now approaching there completion.

The illuminated, glazed wall mounted cabinets will display the furniture makers company's silver and other treasures which include loving cups, the ceremonial mace, rose bowls and candlesticks etc...

Two of the cabinets are a matching pair constructed from English maple the third cabinet is locally grown Warwickshire elm and decorated with inlays of burr elm and ebony wood.

It was a requirement within the design brief that all material used in the construction be from sustainably managed supplies.

The commission has taken over 850 man hours to produce and the grand unveiling will take place at the livery halls in the city of London in late June 2012.

Sean occasionally displays his work at exhibitions and open days at his workshop in Preston-on-Stour in the heart of rural Warwickshire. He has exhibited at a number of prestigious events. In 2008 his work was exhibited at the house of commons in the first exhibition in the Palace of Westminster's history to feature the work of British furniture designers/makers to discover more visit www.seanfeeneyfurniture.co.uk
